Israel Insists on Cairo Illegal Missile Removal

Declaring that Washington's call for Egypt and the Soviet Union to stop violating the cease-fire is not enough, Israel is insisting that Cairo pull back the missiles installed in the Suez Canal truce zone since Aug. 7. Britain threw its support behind U.S. and Israeli charges that Egypt has violated the cease-fire.

"We too believe there have been violations of the cease-fire standstill agreement," said a Foreign Office spokesman in London.

In Jerusalem, Premier Golda Meir disclosed that she has moved up her scheduled visit to U.N. headquarters in New York where U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring is conducting peace talks with representatives of Israel, Egypt and Jordan.

Mrs. Meir had planned to attend the 25th anniversary of the United Nations late in missile buildup rather than a October, but she now intends to roll back. Washington reportedly made the trip during the latter did not want to make it half of this month.

Informed sources said one would prompt the Russians and reason for the change was to the Egyptians to abandon the avoid conflicting with a possible meeting between President Nixon and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he approved of a cabinet plan to give the United States time to get the missiles removed through diplomatic means. But he warned that Israel is capable of "taking military steps, if needed."

"We want the violations stopped," declared U.S. State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey. "In the meantime we believe it is of the utmost importance that the talks between the parties ... proceed forthwith."

It was understood that U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and Donald C. Bergus, the top U.S. diplomat in Cairo, attend the 25th anniversary of the United Nations late in missile buildup rather than a October, but she now intends to roll back. Washington reportedly made the trip during the latter did not want to make it half of this month.

In the first Egyptian comment on the U.S. statement of support for the Israeli charges, the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram accused the United States of "insisting on accommodating the aggressive and expansionist designs of Israel."

Elsewhere in the Middle East:

Lebanese Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt, the guerrillas' friend in the Beirut government, asked the Palestinians to pull their forces six miles back from the Israeli border. Jumblatt said the guerrilla leaders were considering the request. He said he acted after a stormy session of the Lebanese Cabinet Wednesday in which some ministers "displayed an irrational hostility" toward the guerrillas. Since the cease-fire went into effect, the guerrillas have stepped up border raids against Israel, and the Israelis have struck back against Lebanese villages in retaliation.

Jordan's King Hussein sought to ease tension between his army and the Palestine guerrillas with a broadcast appealing for an end to extremism and for unity in the struggle against Israel. "Let the rifles which shoot at our citizens disappear everywhere except the arena of the struggle against Israel," the 34-year-old monarch said. Amman was quiet again Thursday after nearly a week of clashes between the guerrillas and the army and an attempt to assassinate the king.

In London, the British Institute for Strategic Studies said in its annual survey of world military power that massive Soviet aid in the Middle East over the past year has boosted Arab strength to its greatest level since before the 1967 war. In numbers, Arab military strength arrayed against Israel is now overwhelming, the institute said.

The institute, a highly regarded private organization, said that while large supplies of Soviet weapons have been added to the Arab arsenals, the Israeli stockpile of new military hardware has increased more slowly.

Boat Sinks, Kiwanis Club Wins Kennett Man Drowns

KENNETT — Richard Gaylon Crawford, 21, Kennett, was drowned while on a fishing trip when the boat, occupied by three other fishermen, was swamped and sank.

The accident occurred in a floodway ditch, east of Kennett at 6:45 p.m. Thursday, as the fishermen were coming in for a landing.

In the boat with Crawford, were Kenneth Birdsong, Douglas Medress and Lawrence Robinson, all of Kennett.

Birdsong, brother-in-law of Crawford, tried to save the drowning man.

The three passengers in the boat used their seat cushions and were able to reach shore.

Crawford was a brother of State Trooper Jackie D. Crawford of Kennett.

The body of Crawford was taken to McDaniel Funeral Home.

Diaz Ordaz Has Warning Word

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Speaking at a gala state dinner tendered by President Nixon, President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico has sounded a warning that U.S. restrictions on the international trade may imperil the economy of Latin America.

It was the one speaker note at a gathering of 600 VIP guests from both sides of the border Thursday night devoted mainly to lavish expressions of Mexican-American friendship.

Nixon capped a day-long salute to the visiting chief of state by describing Mexico as "the country we have a special place for in our hearts."

Nixon staged the glittering show for Diaz Ordaz at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style Hotel del Coronado just two weeks after reaching a border boundary agreement with the Mexican president in the

Jobless Rate Near 6-Year Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment last month inched up to a near 6 year high of 5.1 per cent of the work force, while total employment dropped nearly 400,000, the Labor Department said today.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the August rise of one-tenth of one per cent in the national jobless rate was not significant, but the reports indicated the nation's continuing economic slowdown including a shorter work week and less overtime.

The report said the actual number of jobless workers declined 300,000 to a total of 4.2 million last month, but that seasonal factors and a decline of 700,000 in the labor force caused the bureau to compute the one-tenth of one per cent increase in the unemployment rate.

In the past year, Goldstein said, unemployment has soared 85 per cent among men and 30 per cent each among women and teenagers.

The August jobless rate of 5.1 per cent equaled the highest rate since October of 1964. The rate last was higher, 5.2 per cent, in June of 1964, Goldstein said.

The rate for men held steady at 3.7 per cent in August, declined from 5 to 4.8 per cent for women but increased sharply for teenagers from 13.9 to 15.9 per cent, the bureau said.

The report said there was a substantial decline in the jobless rate for white collar workers, down 2.7 per cent from July's 10-year high of 3.1 per cent. The job situation improved for professional, managerial and clerical workers, it said.

But blue collar unemployment continued up, rising from 6.6 to 7 per cent last month, and the rate for construction workers rose from 11 to 12.2 per cent, the report said.

In the past year, the nation's total unemployment has risen by 1.4 million. This included 735,000 men, 340,000 women and 270,000 teenagers, it said.

The number of long-term unemployed—15 weeks or more—rose in August to 735,000, nearly double the figure of a year ago.

Biggest drops in employment were 75,000 in manufacturing and 40,000 in construction. Factory jobs were nearly one million below a year ago and construction jobs were down 160,000 since August of 1969, the report said.

Cheerleader Posts Promised After Black Student Protest

A demonstration took place yesterday morning as 75 to 100 black students at Sikeston high school boycotted their first class and presented a list of grievances to Principal Roger Sherman.

The primary point of the discussion was the lack of black representation on the varsity cheerleading squad, Sherman said.

The group also asked for improved transportation facilities, more student council representation and more pictures of blacks in the yearbook.

Less than a dozen students went into Sherman's office to discuss the demands.

Sherman said he was unaware at that time that 75 to 100 black students sat outside in the cafeteria boycotting first hour classes.

A group outside his office sang "We Shall Overcome."

After meeting with the students and talking with Superintendent of Schools Lynn Twitty, a meeting of the board of education was called. The board and the administration decided the cheerleader grievance was partially justified on the basis that the black students had little chance of winning by popular vote since the cheerleaders are voted on by the Red Pepper, composed largely of white students.

The problem was discussed with student leaders and cheerleaders and they decided that four black candidates for cheerleader would try out before impartial judges and two winners would be added to the all white squad.

They will understand of the begin performing at the community, and want the entire beginning of the basketball community to get the facts on this situation.

In a press conference this morning at the high school, Sherman, Twitty and Clem Beal, school board president, have been made and none are expected.

"Police will be called if violence happens," he added.

"We felt the demands were justified to some extent. We wanted to work out some fair concession under these circumstances because it will bring about better feelings among the student body, and we want to do everything possible to keep the school running. We feel it is right and reasonable to consider student opinion, but we won't have dissent to the extent that it disrupts the school process. We will listen to all grievances and if reasonable then we will try to work it out, but we will not stand for any disruption that will impair the educational process."

"We ask for the support and understanding of the community, and want the entire beginning of the basketball community to get the facts on this situation."

"All future demands will be considered on their merits," Sherman said that no threats have been made and none are expected.

"If everyone remains calm and reasonable then we won't have any problems, I hope we have no violence," Sherman said that he had a open our policy and is willing to talk to anyone.

"The administration feels that the demonstration was not totally organized, but rather it was something that had evolved over a period of years," Sherman said.

Beal added: "We want the community to stay informed at all times. They should take a more active role because it involves everyone. We are just trying to stay ahead of the situation."

Pesticide Bans Unlikely to Be Effective for Another Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's flurry of action against pesticides has failed to reduce significantly the amount of chemicals polluting the environment, and the bans it has ordered aren't likely to be effective for at least a year.

The Agriculture Department, over the past 10 months, has announced cancellation or suspension of a number of the registered uses for DDT and two of its close chemical relatives—pesticides containing one form of the poisonous metal mercury, and the herbicide 2,4,5-T, which has been shown to cause birth defects in animals.

The actions, however, left intact registered uses that account for 75 per cent of domestic applications of DDT and 2,4,5-T. And government officials concede that because of legal loopholes and possibly lengthy appeals by manufacturers some retail sales of the pesticides for uses officially banned will continue until at least next year and perhaps for two to three years.

Nevertheless, government health officials say the Agriculture Department has demonstrated a new and unaccommodated willingness to act against pesticides that appear to threaten the environment.

Furthermore, the Nixon administration appears to be fulfilling its pledge to implement recommendations made last December by the blue-ribbon Mrak commission appointed by the secretary of Health,

Baptism In River Sunday

More than 100 candidates from 20 Southeast Missouri churches will march from the Russell Street church to the baptismal site.

He was warm in his appreciation of the way "the people opened their hearts" in the daily decorated city here and he thanked the Johnsons, too, for coming all the way from Texas to have dinner with him.

Nixon has frequently noted that he and his wife, Pat, honeymooned in Mexico, and Diaz Ordaz said he hopes it's a custom that continues.

He suggested that all young men who aspire to political careers take their honeymoons in Mexico, "because perhaps it will help them reach the presidency."

Hayti Man Named Coordinator of Regional Planning

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gene Sully, director of the Department of Community Affairs, announced two appointments in his department.

David Pugh, Raleigh, N.C., will become the coordinator of state planning.

Pugh received a masters degree in regional planning from the University of Oklahoma in June.

Stephen Bradford, of Hayti, has been appointed coordinator of regional planning. He replaces Hurschel Crass, who died of injuries received in a light plane crash June 14.

Asked why the local was striking and the reason behind it, Mrs. E. M. Stites, owner of the company, declined comment.

Don Hurst, Blodgett, head of the union could not be reached for comment.

Plant Bast Injures 20

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An explosion of undetermined origin rocked a manufacturing process plant of Monsanto Co. today, injuring 20 persons.

A company official said all those injured were employees of the plant. Seven persons were hospitalized.

A two-alarm fire broke out. And all available city ambulances were summoned to the scene on the city's south side.

John Spano, Monsanto public relations officer, said the fire was declared under control about a half hour after the blast and a state emergency at the plant was ended.

Cause of the blast was not immediately known.

News Briefs Safety Club Organized

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — "Saved by the Belt," a new traffic safety organization, will be started this Labor Day weekend, the State Division of Highway Safety announced Thursday.

Its membership will be made up of those whose lives have been saved or injuries lessened by the use of a safety belt while driving.

Robert E. Burgess, director of the division, said the purpose is to recognize those drivers who have used seat belts to their advantage and to dramatize the need for others to "buckle up."

Murder Threat Enters Case

LONDON (AP) — A man charged with demanding $3.4 million in a kidnap threat against Aristotle Onassis and his wife Jacqueline was charged today with threatening to kill her.

The extra charge was revealed as John William Humphrys, 58, was ordered to remain held without bail until a jury trial begins next week. Humphrys, a British electronics engineer, was arrested July 24.

In the preliminary hearing at London's Guildhall Court, Humphrys was accused of sending John Newnham, a shipping agent for Onassis, a letter threatening to kill the widow of President John F. Kennedy. Further details of the alleged threat were not disclosed.

POW Release Legion Goal

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Alfred P. Chamie, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, says his most important job will be to try to obtain the release of American military men held prisoner by Hanoi.

Soft-spoken, mild, gray-haired and 54, he has been vice president and general counsel of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers since 1948.

Within minutes of being elected commander Thursday by a vote of 2,889 to 166 over John P. Flynn of Vallejo, Calif., Chamie said his first official move would be to name a special committee to work on the problem of U.S. prisoners of North Vietnam.

Asked whether his year in office would bring any changes in the legion, he said:

"I will carry out the mandate that the legion has given in the resolutions, but I first must look them over to see what they are."

He promised to try to build greater respect for the American flag.

No Evidence of Rock Gathering

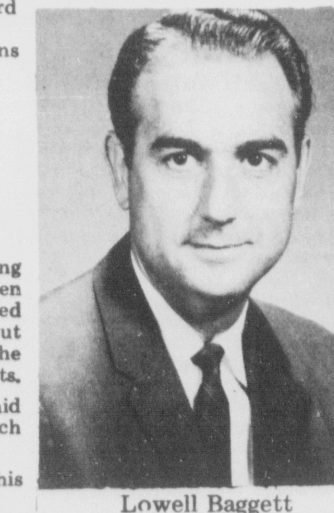

BENTON — Scott County Sheriff John Dennis said Thursday "there was no evidence" there would be any persons gather for a banned rock festival formerly scheduled this weekend at Interstate Dragways north of Miner.

A proposed festival was enjoined by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig on grounds it would create public nuisance.

Tom Gilmore, prosecuting attorney, said there have been several reports of long-haired individuals in Sikeston but investigation disclosed the youths were Sikeston residents.

The sheriff and Gilmore said they are keeping a close watch on the situation.

A race is scheduled for this weekend at the site.

RISING RESISTANCE TO THE NEA LOBBY
School bells are ringing - and although the powerful Education Lobby had its way with huge federal appropriations this year, there is evidence aplenty that grass roots America is not about ready to give much more. The way folks are thinking is reflected by Editor
William C. Epler of the Brewery Gulch Gazette in Bisbee, Arizona, Editor Epler wrote:
"I have about come to the conclusion that brains and education don't necessarily go together, that one of the most dangerous organizations in the country is the National Education Association; and that one of our worst problems in education will not be teaching our kids but in trying to control the professional educators who seek nothing less than total subservency from the rest of us.

"These comments are prompted by the address given at a national convention of the 1.1 million- member National Education Association in San Francisco by NEA President George D. Fischer, who sees anti- education spooks behind every door.

"There are some experts in America," Fischer said,
'who are predicting that public education cannot survive
the onslaughts leveled against it in 1970. There appears to be a conspiracy at work to destroy confidence in public education, including a hostile federal administration which has in fact declared war on education'.

"Can the man be serious? What onslaughts? Does he mean the questions by parents and taxpayers challenging the need for still further increased taxes to fund increasingly idiotic 'educational' programs designed more to create teaching jobs than to help educate people?

"Does he call it a conspiracy when citizens object to paying taxes to support a teacher who is an avowed communist seeking to destroy our form of government, one teaching the same line to their children? Does he mean he thinks it is wrong for people to lose confidence in the educational system when it cannot even teach children to spell simple words, to write a simple sentence with correct punctuation?

"Is he indignant because people question the educational hierarchy when it stands idly by and lets juvenile delinquents masquerading as college students tear down schools burn buildings, disrupt classes and in general raise hell? Does he wonder why we got bent out of shape when teachers actually encourage dissidents to do these things and sometimes actually take part?

"Yes, the public is losing confidence in public education, Mr. Fischer- and you are making your contribution to it."

the proof of man, a woman.

ART FESTIVAL SYNDROME

LONDON — International art festivals long ago became like birthday parties thrown by the over-indulgent rich.
The Venice Art Biennale scheduled to open on June 24 is no exception. Only this year, to appease angry artists, the prizes are being abolished. Considering that the prizes were created in 1938 by no less a figure than Benito Mussolini, some say it is high time.

But much more is in question. Artists no longer like this type of competition. Hilton Kramer, critic for The New York Times, has observed that there is "a feeling that questions of quality involve pretensions of aristocracy." And because no one talks about "good" or "bad" artists anymore, anything from fiberglass reindeer to negative space goes. Apparently the audiences agree with such phenomena as neon squiggles and plastic bags full of algae. They no longer want art to be demanding or difficult.

Although 28 countries are planning to participate in the festival, many of the artists want to boycott Venice and are urging their fellow countrymen to do the same.
The artists are suggesting a year's breathing time so that a new, radical formula could be developed which would eliminate both politics and commercialism from the festival. In the past there has simply been too much bargaining and fixing of prizes. Promoters and art dealers spent thousands of dollars to launch their own products on top of their national flagpole.

The Shindig in Venice, located two vaporetto stops from the world famous Piazza San Marco, will be chaotic if 1970 is anything like 1968. Demonstrators delayed the 1968 opening to protest the snobbish, fashion conscious, politically oriented attitudes of the organizers. The French Pavilion never opened its doors. The Swedish Pavilion covered its windows with black plastic sheeting.
And the Russians dropped out of the festival because their art works had been misconsignated to Czechoslovakia.

Following the initial fracas in 1968, the Venetian police attempted to control the exhibits by patrolling the fair grounds. This caused even greater resentment.
Argentine artist Garcia Uriburu spent the night in a hired gondola sprinkling chemicals to turn the canals into a bright green. This ecological protest really shook up the gondoliers and the people of Venice.

Critics, such as France's Alan Jouffroy, contend that the idea of nations parading their cultural stars is a demeaning form of exhibitionism. There is no American culture, or Swiss culture, or West German culture. So why divide the painters according to their national origin? Other critics point out that when the Biennale opened its doors 32 years ago, it statutes said that only Mussolini or his duly appointed agents could decide what was art, who were artists, who could show- not exactly the best charter for any festival.

Nevertheless, 1968 did provide amusement and publicity to those who sought it. Red Grooms, an American, created one of the hits of the show by erecting a pop-artist visual amusement park titled "The City of Chicago." This was a three dimensional construction of paper and wood which caricatured the city of Al Capone, Jane Adams and Mayor Daley.

Not many delights are expected this year. The city of Venice is now beginning to have second thoughts about backing the festival -- already more than 400 million Lire ($600,000) in debt. It has been proposed that this attraction simply be allowed to die a financial death. For many of the artists who feel that the idea of such a show is dated, this would be a welcome burial.

Ben Franklin said it: "In a discreet man's mouth a public thing is private."

The "Detroit" magazine, published by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, condensed a portion of the Monthly Economic Letter of the First National City Bank of New York: "... Because the housewife sees inflation at the end of a long chain of transactions in the supermarket or the department store, she tends to blame
'greedy middlemen.' Such astigmatism makes many others the target for inflation blame: commercial banks for high interest rates, unions for high wages, large corporations for the high prices of their products, and state and local governments for high property taxes... But most of the blame for inflation is misplaced. For although inflation has a thousand faces, it has but one essential cause:
overly expansive and erratic monetary policy that has pushed up the quantity of money more swiftly than the quantity of goods and services."

Harold Anderton says: "It helps toward a successful marriage if, after one big question is asked, the matter is settled."

Kelly dismissed the charge of possessing liquor against Ada Ready when she explained that she never possessed liquor, just drank it as soon as she got it.

(AP) — A husband is more than a man.

While it is true that all husbands are men—even in these days when sexual barriers are toppling—it is not true that all men are husbands.

And therein lies the difference.
A man is an independent creature, free of spirit and action. A husband is something else.

Crossing the barrier between youth and manhood is nothing compared to crossing the threshold to husbandhood.

Boys learn quickly and naturally the attributes requisite for the male of the species.
Hormones, heredity, training—possibly even mothers—prepare boys for their proper role as males, breadwinners, hunters, warriors against the world.

Nothing really prepares a man for husbandhood. And the transformation is less dramatic, more gradual. Many a man becomes a husband before he realizes it.

As the winds and waters of centuries carve even the hardest rock, so the soft abrasions of daily living shape the husband:

The trauma of the first big dinner for company when the roast burned.

The death of the first pet shared by man and wife.

The first argument with a neighbor housewife.

The bridge party with the supplementary features of the art of communication. That is why many newspapers own radio and TV stations — while the newspaper keeps right on publishing.

Only the newspaper leaves a permanent record of community life. Only the newspaper is free to express its editor's personal convictions, and only the newspaper — unlicensed and unregulated — fulfills the obligation of a free press in accordance with the historical meaning of the term. A free press is the bastion of a self-governing people. It can be supplemented, but never supplanted.

figures that what she doesn't know, won't hurt him.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON --
Diplomatic envoy Frank Borman talks with world leaders in behalf of American war prisoners were friendly but futile.

Leaders on both sides of the Iron Curtain cordially promised to renew their inquiries into the fate of the American captives.
But the consensus was that Hanoi intends to use the prisoner issue as a bargaining card at the peace table.

Even more disturbing, there were hints that the North Vietnamese are withholding prisoner information because they can't afford to let the outside world know the true conditions in the prison camps.
Borman sent daily,
confidential reports to the White House as he flew from capital to capital, this column can report
the highlights of his findings:

POW DEATHS?

In Geneva, Marcel Naville, president of the International Red Cross, told Borman that his organization has been given free access to South Vietnam's prison camps and has found no abuse of prisoners. He said the Red Cross has also received full information about captives taken by both sides in the Middle East conflict. Only North Vietnam has refused to furnish prisoner information or to open its camps to international inspection. This led Naville to express his private suspicion that Hanoi seeks to conceal the number of Americans who have died in confinement.

Swedish Premier Olof Palme told Borman that he had sent Hanoi a list of missing Americans to find out for their wives, in the name of humanity, whether they are widows or whether their husbands are still alive. All he got back from Hanoi was information that had already been made public about a dozen prisoners. He promised to keep trying.

In both Moscow and Warsaw, Borman was able to speak only to the deputy foreign ministers in charge of Asian affairs. Both insisted they had little leverage in Hanoi, but both agreed to press the North Vietnamese for information about American POWs.

ALGERIAN SURPRISE

The astronaut got a surprisingly friendly reception
from Algeria's President Houari Boumedienne who promised to use his good offices with Hanoi. Borman's visit was so cordial, in fact, that it might have paved the way for a resumption of diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Algeria.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi reported that India had already made two appeals to Hanoi in behalf of U.S. prisoners and expressed her readiness to make a third attempt.

Most leaders felt they could be more effective if their efforts weren't publicized, so Borman sent cables in advance requesting American embassies not to call press conferences on the prisoner issue.

The tireless Borman, who commanded the first manned flight around the moon, came away from his private meetings with the feeling that Hanoi in many ways was more remote than the moon.

Footnote: Of all the POW drama, no story is more poignant than that of Admiral John S. McCain, Jr., the Pacific commander, whose son was shot down over North Vietnam in 1967. Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain
III wound up in a rice paddy with arms and legs broken.

The crusty old admiral knew that his command decisions could bring retaliation against his son. Intimates say his gruff exterior hides an inner anguish over his son's fate. Yet he hasn't hesitated to direct military blows against the enemy.

However, he has betrayed his agony in anxious, private talks with Borman and with prisoners who have been released. From them, McCain has learned that his son has received adequate medical care and hasn't been singled out for special brainwashing. He was last reported in a prison camp outside Hanoi.

ANTITRUST AND SAFETY

An unpublished study by the National Commission on Product Safety warns that American industry cannot force companies to make safe goods, even if it wanted to. Only the government can do the job.

The study, entitled "Industry Safety Standards and the Federal Anti-trust Laws," shows that antitrust laws make it hazardous if not impossible for honest firms to take coordinated action against the makers of dangerous products.

Consultant John F. Graybeal, the author of the unpublished report, cites 500 "voluntary standards" set up by industry and administered by the Commerce Department. Yet even when it has a standard to protect the consumer, private industry cannot "enforce it by prohibiting the sale of nonconforming products, trying offenders and imposing sanctions."

"To do so would create the most highly suspect form of standardization — a group of competitors seeking to regulate another competitor."

Legislation to promote product safety must be drafted, enacted and enforced by government,"
the study will be published this fall by the Commission.

Over 500 flight hours of paths have been laid out and will encompass roughly 50 missions to plot out the profile of the mountains and valleys under some 14,800 feet of ice.

TAXPAYING INDUSTRY
KILLERS
Untold billions of tax dollars have been poured into public works projects in every state in the union over the past several decades. The spenders' favorite argument for many of these projects was that they were "investments" whose benefits far outweighed costs. This has been said of the federal government's ventures into the electric power business.

Those who pointed out that the power projects of the federal government were wasteful of taxpayers' money were usually branded as reactionaries. The government's — commercial electric power projects escaped payment of most taxes to provide service at less than cost to their customers. Unlike other public works projects, such as

H.L. Hunt Says

$1 BILLION FOR POPULATION CONTROL Congress is currently considering legislation which would appropriate over $1 billion for "population control."
This legislation should be rejected.

In the first place, the so-called "population - explosion"
has been greatly exaggerated.
Recently the President's own National Goals Research Staff stated in its report that overpopulation was not a problem which this country would have to face in the foreseeable future.

An examination of the birth rate statistics in this country confirms their conclusion. Since 1957, our birth rate has steadily declined, while the death rate has remained almost constant.
There is no indication whatever that this trend is likely to be reversed.

Also, this and related legislation would involve the government in still another area which is none of its concern. For the past 40 years, our government has grown rapidly as it became more and more involved in regulation of business and even of personal lives. If the bureaucracy now invades the most intimate life of the family, no area of human existence will be safe from government interference.

It should also be kept in mind that many individuals have profound moral objections to the kind of projects which would be financed by this legislation. Yet their tax money would be used to pay for them.

Our country does not need still another government program, sure to expand and become ever more costly, especially at a time when our budget deficits are causing serious and damaging inflation.
By rejecting all population control legislation, Congress could practice economy, common sense, and respect for individual liberty, all at the same time, HLH

RARE OR WELL-DONE —
STILL COSTS MONEY
The Senate found out last month that its New Senate Office Building's ten-year-old cafeteria's hamburger patty-maker had worn out. Needed, it was said, was a new one — for $1,600. Also six new dish transporting trucks at $449 each and four coffee urns, $650 apiece. Altogether, with other unnamed items, $28,000 was requested to replace obsolete cafeteria equipment.

An expenditure of $38,600 to begin a 17-year program of replacing 60-year-old desks in the Old Senate Office Building was also recommended. Many are still in use. The total of the replacement items, about $67,000, notes the Foundation, is almost equivalent to Federal alcohol tax collections on domestic wines in the Omaha,
Nebraska region last year.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Mao on the Rocks:
Free China's Quemoy Prosper Right Under Communists' Big Guns
Quemoy, Republic of China:
— It wasn't an easy ride as we flew slowly 200 feet above the China Sea to stay well below
the Chinese Communist radar.
Cold towels didn't help. The heat grabbed the little old C-47 prop plane with torrid, relentless fingers.

But it was a safe ride as we plodded on towards the Shiangli Airport on Quemoy — just a few thousand yards from Mao's mainland and his ragged city of Amoy. Somewhere far above were Free China's ace jet fighters flying a cover action. The record proves that the Republic's fighter pilots could knock any Mao MIG out of the hot skies.

So now I was heading for the famed Matsue-Quemoy offshore islands. I recalled the debates of yesteryear with such men as my good friend Thurgood Marshall.
He was not then on the Supreme Court. And we would get in front of the microphones and he and those who believed like him would argue that Mao and the so-called Peoples Liberation Army would drive us off the world if we tacitly approved General Chiang Kai-shek's retention of these off-shore islands — of which one complex is practically right in Amoy's harbor on the Fukien coast.

Well, when Justice Marshall reads this, he and his similarly thinking friends will know that "we" kept those islands — "we"
being the free peoples of this part of the world.

Communist lightning did not strike — freedom did. This island, which the Chinese call Kinmen, meaning Golden Gate (Matsu means a horse's ancestors), is a miniature Israel. Though the enemy always is in sight, so are the youngsters, the new trees,
the utter freedom.

You can start anywhere.
Drive up the road and you pass groups of children — of whom there are almost 20,000. They play, they run, they shout, they fight like any other kids and they go to the 21 primary schools and four middle schools,
and then finish their education in the universities on Taiwan.

There is an old-age home where the "clients" live in picturesque, pastel-colored bungalows and want to know about our own Golden Ring retirement clubs.

You drive through the towns of Kinnemang and Shan-wai. And the main drags are like main streets anywhere in the Orient, only cleaner. There are stores, blaring record shops, and what could pass for local boutiques selling dresses, shoes, tinny goods, hardware, cakes, books and plastic toys, just to mention a few.

Sure you know the big guns are in tunnels threading the island. But, corny of not, freedom's worth the price of vigilance.

Anyone can pray, in his or her own fashion, for this freedom. There are Protestant churches at Shami, Houpu, Chunglin, and on Little Kinnem, another island. And

Then I went looking for the labor force. It is here, on and off the farms, near and away from the peacefully grazing cows who have the good sense to stay out of the sun and not wander these taxi-laden streets as high noon.

Amog the urban labor force on this Big Kinnem island where 60,000 dwell there are dockworkers and longshoremen.
There are those who earn their daily bread in the big wine distillery, the cement tile plant, the pottery mills, the electric power installations, the soda water plant, fisheries, agriculture processing factories, chinaware firms and irrigation projects.

They raise and process
sorghum, maize, paddy rice, watermelon, corn and American onions and vegetables. They breed hogs and cattle.

It's all normal until you go underground to Strong Point 133 which is the site of a battle where Mao lost 20,000 men and some 300 fighting craft. It's all normal until you go out to the loudspeaker installation at Ma-shan.

There, two attractive gals use amplifiers — not radio — to reach the fishermen and coastal communities of close-up Communist China. The loudspeakers are part of the Free China propaganda system which includes floating good clothes, food and even toys over to thymainland to show that free China does not live in the shoddy world of Mao's "thoughts."

And as we took off for the low-run return across the Taiwan
Straits for the Sungshan Air Force Base near Taipei, I thought that if "we" had yielded these islands twenty years ago, some of quemoy's kids might be shooting at American GIs over further west, instead of being allies in a free world.

Why does it always take 20 years to prove that so many Chungling, and on Little Kinnem, another island. And so wrong so many times?

Ann Landers Wife Pregnant Eight Years After Husband was 'Made Steril'...Why?

Dear Ann Landers: I thought I was strong enough to handle any problem that came my way but I was wrong. Please help me before I lose my mind.
Our youngest child is eight. After he was born, my husband had an operation so we wouldn't have any more children. To make a long story short, I am six months pregnant. My mother-in-law insists the child is not my husband's. I KNOW this is utterly impossible. My doctor has told us this is a rare occurrence, but it has happened before. My husband was upset, as you can imagine, but he accepted the doctor's explanation and we never discuss it.

The real problem is my mother-in-law. Whenever she gets her son alone she riles him up and starts new trouble. She tells him he is a big fool, that I most certainly have a lower someplace and he should not let me get away with it. She keeps repeating, "If the operation came 'undone' why didn't your wife get pregnant before?" This is, of course, a hard question to answer.
I love my husband very much, and he loves me, but our marriage is becoming shaky because of these recurring doubts.
Surely, Ann, this has happened to other couples. Please check with your consultants and print something to help me. —Faithful in Idaho

Dear Faithful: If the spermatic cords were severed, a pregnancy could not possibly result. If the cords were tied, however, the tying might have come undone and conception could have occurred. As to why you did not become pregnant before, there are at least a dozen reasons — all valid. Your doctor can answer this question.
Aside from the medical aspects, there is a personal problem here which must be regarded as interference.
Your husband should tell his mother promptly that he has accepted the doctor's word and not to bring up the subject again.
Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl, 17, who needs your help. Yesterday Mom was supposed to pick me up downtown. I waited for 30 minutes and she didn't come, so I took the bus. When I got home Mom was like a raving maniac. She screamed for an hour. "Where were you? Why weren't you where you were supposed to be? I rode around till I was dizzy. You're an idiot. From now on, get home on your own."

When I didn't answer her, she picked up my transistor radio and threw it against the wall. The transistor fell apart but it still works. I had to tape it and glue it and use rubber bands to keep it together. I know it won't last long and I'll have to get it fixed or buy a new one. My

BAKED PORK CHOPS WITH APPLESAUCE
6 ribs or loin pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 cups fresh applesauce
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 tablespoons cinnamon candies

Have un-apple—it's the real thing! Everybody loves them. And, apple pie? An American institution! Let's celebrate American living. Your freedom to enjoy what you like! Bite into honest fruit. Bite into an apple!
In this day of outstanding advertising, we find many new products and foods we really enjoy. Yet, one food has kept a "number-one" position — and this time, not really by advertising — but, by the People's Choice! And, Missouri steps right out in front with this favorite. For during September, Missouri apples are in a plentiful supply — with many varieties, each supporting its own distinctive flavor and texture. Wise shoppers note these "plentiful seasons" of Missouri foods, and buy with these times in mind.
When looking for a variety to suit your particular needs, keep these Missouri favorites in mind:
Pies: Jonathan, Golden Delicious, Stayman
Baking: Jonathan, Stayman, Ben Davis, York
Raw: Jonathan, Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Grimes Golden, Winesap.
Once you've found your variety, check individual apples for signs of good quality. A firm touch, a shiny tight skin and proper coloring are all clues in getting a good apple.
Tip-Time: A purchase of 1 lb. of apples = 3 to 4 apples = 1 1/2 cups applesauce
2 medium apples = 1 cup grated fruit
When you get the apples in your kitchen, help them to feel right at home in the cool, dry section of your refrigerator until you're ready for them. Only perfect apples should be stored for later use. Use apples with bruises or skin breaks as soon as possible.
Producing a better pork product, at higher production costs — while at the same time stable retail prices — has been accomplished. This was done by increasing output per man, per acre, per animal annual unit of pork. Hooray for Agricultural Science! Hooray for our Missouri farmers!
Today's average hog yields 14 1/2 pounds more lean meat than the hog of just over 10 years ago. And — today's hog weighs just two pounds more! A 10% increase in the amount of lean — a 26% decrease in the amount of fat! Who said pork is fattening? You and I had better straighten somebody out! Fact: You can take pork out of Missouri. But! You can't take Missouri out of the pork (business).

Pork and apples each claim individual stardom. Let's see what they can do together.

SONNY JAMES BAND TO PLAY AT FESTIVAL
FULTON, Ky. — The appearance of Sonny James, his Southern Gentlemen, and Barbara Mandrell and her all-girl band, a group with a million dollars worth of country talent is one of the highlights of the Eighth Annual International Banana Festival to be staged in the twin cities of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn. Sept. 8-12. The Sonny James performance is scheduled for Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the tent auditorium.
Major national popularity polls find each year that James either leads or is consistently in the Top Five. 1969-70 Billboard magazine and Record World's Number One Country Artist.

On a recent appearance on the Ed Sullivan national television show the Sullivan people remarked that "we received more mail as a result of Sonny's appearance than any other performance this year." Starting with his multi-million seller "Young Love," his string of hits is phenomenal. For the past five years he has released twenty-two, number one records in a row.
Appearing on the same program with James, Miss are with and food taking such a huge cut out of everyone's Nashville's most recorded steel guitarist. She has appeared on the "Ed Sullivan Show," "The Tonight Show," and "The Mike Douglas Show." She is the South and at the age of 13 was a featured soloist with the Red Foley Show. With two other female entertainers appearing with her, Miss Mandrell is one of Columbia Record's top recording artists.

Rise in Prices Prompts Bin Corn Auction
Millions of bushels of corn stored in Commodity Credit Corporation bins are being auctioned because of a rise in price, agriculture officials said Thursday.
They said the major factor in the price hike is the fear that the new form of southern leaf blight might severely damage this year's U.S. crop.
Informed sources said the government sold about 14 million bushels last week and has disposed of more than 21 million this week.
The CCC by law must offer stored corn when the market price tops a certain figure which varies from county to county and is determined by a complex formula which includes transportation costs and loan rates.
For the first time in five years the price has reached this level, the executive director of the Iowa Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Dale Awtry, said 32 million bushels of Iowa corn in CCC bins will be offered for sale. He said Ohio has already offered its 500,000 bushels.
A Department of Agriculture official in Illinois said the CCC will offer 21 million bushels for sale in the 60 counties of the state where it is stored.
The stored corn will be sold to the highest bidder if the bid at least equals the formula price, Awtry said. The bids will be opened at the close of each day's business.
Buyers may leave the corn in storage at CCC bins for 20 days without charge, he said.
Agriculture Department officials said early this week that the over all effect of the corn blight might range from 5 per cent to a maximum of 10 per cent of what had been expected to be a very good crop.

Which Package Came First Women's Rights

EDITOR'S NOTE — Which came first, these eggs or those eggs? The carton numbered 4254 or the carton marked 2252? It used to be that only your grocer knew for sure. But now a lot of consumers are demanding to be let in on the secret. Following is a report on the coding of foods by AP's Living Today department.

By ANN BLACKMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Nestled neatly row on row on grocery shelves, one box of medium Grade A eggs looks like all the others. The question is, however, "which box is freshest?"
The grocer and the supermarket clerk can tell quite easily by reading the codes on meat, butter, eggs, poultry, produce and other perishables which tell how long a product has been on the shelf.
But it is a rare housewife, indeed, who can crack the cryptic code.

This is the way it usually works: Find the four digit number stamped on a package. The sum of the first and last digits corresponds to the number of the month of the year. The middle two digits indicate the day of the month. (Thus, Aug. 25, would be 4254.) If the code is underlined, it's the day the eggs were packaged. If not, it's the day they should be removed from the cooler.
Or maybe it's the day they were laid.
Few shoppers appear to know a coding system of freshness exists at all. But almost all the 8,000 or so items in a typical supermarket are coded in various forms. Many grocers know the codes and have instructions from retailers not to offer "crib" sheets to the customers. But sometimes even the most seasoned grocers can't figure them out.

There's no uniformity in the coding. In a large food chain in Detroit, the day the bread is baked is marked by a colored tie on the package. The tie colors change daily.
In a Cleveland grocery, a package of Swiss cheese marked 035 means it was packaged the 35th day of the year. But some weeks they reverse this and a package marked 035 means it was packaged on January 1.
The food industry argues the codes protect the consumer while consumer advocates insist the codes confuse the customer who has a right to know the quality of the food he's buying.
"With prices the way they are and with food taking such a huge cut out of everyone's income, naturally the customer knows what he's buying," asked Frank Pollock, assistant to the director of the Consumer's Union which publishes Consumer's Report. "It's an insult to the consumer to pick up a package and not be able to read all the information on it."

If the consumer did know, food industry officials contend, he would buy only the freshest food. As a result, they say, perfectly good, high quality goods — though not as fresh — would go to waste, thus driving up the prices.
"Take milk," said Wayne Warrington, public affairs director of the National Association of Food Chains. "Usually, milk sells so fast that you have a three-day turnover. But if it is stored properly in a refrigerator that is not opened and closed, and has no temperature or humidity change, it can be just as good and tasty and nutritious after three or four weeks."

Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs, has supported a standardized system of coding so consumers can walk into any stores and understand the packaging system.
"We're chiding the food industry for its failure to develop proper microbiological standards so all manufacturers will agree on the same date to pull the items off the shelves," said Frank McLaughlin, director of Industry Relations in Mrs. Knauer's office.
Last spring 57 congressmen proposed a bill to require "open dating" on all perishables. Under this proposed legislation, the date the item should be removed from the shelf would be stamped on the label. A spokesman from the office of one of the bill's sponsors, Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., said, "Right now it (the bill) is just sitting on ice. We don't expect much to happen for awhile."

The Department of Agriculture recently released a study of nine European countries with comprehensive standardized coding systems which indicated that under the new system customers continued to buy all the food, not only the freshest, and prices did not soar.
Food chains around the country are wrestling with the problem of how to meet the consumers' demands for a comprehensive coding system. Jewel Co. of Chicago and Stop 'N' Shop of Boston last month placed code translating booklets in all their supermarkets.
Safeway, Inc. the huge supermarket chain, for years has "open dated" all the foods it processes. Now it's asking its retailers to do the same. Several other chains have signs on their supermarket walls with instructions on how to understand the codes.
"There's clearly movement in the industry," said James Turner, a supermarket researcher with Ralph Nader's Center for Responsive Law in Washington, D.C.

"Open dating will be a reality very soon," he predicted. "Some of the big companies are getting into it now. The rest will have to follow."

Every senator will be tracked down by the women to declare himself in the next 10 days.
The women point out that 2 million more women than men voted in 1968 and the difference is expected to be 3 million this fall.
Mrs. Roebing, president of the Trenton (N.J.) Trust Co. said realization of dramatic pay discrepancies between men and women and of discrimination against women in such subtle ways as limiting their enrollment in graduate schools are the basis "for the unprecedented feminine revolution. We're trying to break the bonds of convention."

But that doesn't mean the women supporting the equal rights amendment harmonize with all those in the "women's lib" movement.
Where do they differ?
"We want to keep our bras," quipped Democratic powerhouse Esther Coopersmith.
"Absolutely!" echoed Mrs. Mesta.
By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 1930s a widowed, wealthy Perle Mesta campaigned for women's rights — and concluded it was harder to unite the women than the rights.
Nearly 40 years later, she's confident about the women.
It's the 100 U.S. senators she's afraid might split and desert women in the crunch.
Eighty-one senators cosponsored a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee women equal rights with men — but they didn't really expect the House to do them in by overwhelmingly approving the measure and forcing an election-year Senate vote.

With rumors afloat that some of those 81 cosponsors are searching frantically for a compromise way out before the post-Labor Day vote, Mrs. Mesta called a strategy luncheon at her lavish penthouse. Prominent women in politics, business, society and journalism plotted an emergency shoring-up operation.
Mrs. Mesta, a former ambassador to Luxembourg and the original "hostess with the mostest," called for an end to pussyfooting and "thank you for your views" hedges which some senators are issuing when asked how they'll vote.
"We ought to be for the amendment — and if they're not, put them out of office," she asserted.

Jim Hickman has been dubbed the Iceman by his teammates and the Chicago rightfielder again showed why with his sizzling hitting as the Cubs close in on the National League East's top spot.

Hickman didn't waste any time going to work Thursday. The 33-year-old veteran of nine major league seasons, stroked a run-scoring single in the opening inning, then crashed a three-run homer in the second as the Cubs routed Philadelphia 7-2 and moved to within one-half game of the division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 6-foot-4, 235-pounder from Tennessee increased his average to .326 with his 29th homer and single and the four runs batted in gave him 103 for the year. In his eight previous big league seasons, Hickman hit .236.

"Jim carried us last August and, when everyone else was fading in September, he kept right on going," Cubs Manager Leo Durocher said. "And now he's carrying us again."

Smith Makes Cousin of Niekro

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Niekro has a brother named Phil in the National League and a cousin named Reggie Smith in the American. At least Reggie Smith has a cousin named Joe Niekro.

"I don't know why I hit him so hard—maybe it's because he's new in the league this year and I bear down harder," Smith said after rapping a single and homer off Niekro in Boston's 5-2 victory over Detroit Thursday night.

That gave Smith nine hits in 13 at-bats against Niekro this season, including three homers, and raised his league-leading batting average to .322, two points ahead of California's Alex Johnson.

Smith's 22nd home started Niekro's troubles in the opening inning and the Red Sox kayoed blanked Houston 4-0.

The Mets fell from second to third in the East, one game behind the Pirates, as Joe Hague jumped to an early 3-0 lead.

The Cards made it 5-1 in the sixth off loser Gary Gentry, 9-8. Steve Carlton, 8-18, picked up the victory, giving up nine hits, including a two-run homer by Al Weis in the ninth.

Pete Rose drilled his 12th homer and drove in three runs while Johnny Bench ripped three hits and knocked in a pair of runs in Cincinnati's victory over the Giants.

Henry Aaron, Orlando Cepeda and Cleo Boyer socked homers for the Braves over Los Angeles while Andy Kosco and Bill Sudakis had homers for the Dodgers.

Aaron's three-run shot was his 36th and No. 590 of his career. Cepeda slugged his 32nd, a two-runner, as was Boyer's, and added a pair of singles.

Clay Kirby tossed a three-hitter at the Astros and Padres' catcher Chris Cannizzaro ripped a bases-loaded triple in the second inning, giving Kirby all the help he needed.

California's squeaker over Kansas City with a seven-hitter. Hard-luck loser Jim Rooker held the Angels to four hits, but they scored in the second on two singles and an infield out.

Trailing the White Sox 3-1, the A's had a runner on first but were down to their last out against reliever Wilbur Wood. Then pinch hitter Dave Duncan singled and Fernandez, another pinch batter, smacked his 15th home run of the season over the left field fence. Bob Spence connected for the Sox.

The Orioles took advantage of two bunt singles, two basesloaded walks and two errors to score six times in the sixth inning and beat the Yankees and Mel Stottlemyre. Jim Palmer withstood 10 New York hits, including Jim Lytle's homer, for his 19th victory.

Cardinals had driven Gary Gentry, 9-8 to cover with single runs in three of the first four innings for a 3-1 lead including Joe Hague's 12th home run.

They added a run off two walks and a single in the fifth and widened their lead to 5-1 an inning later on Lou Brock's single and Julian Javier's triple.

The victory gave the Cards only a measure of satisfaction, however, after dropping three straight to the Mets.

As if sensing an omen in the triumph over the slender Gentry, Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst noted, "Strange things can happen in September."

"We need for Chicago to beat the Mets, the Mets to beat Chicago and the same thing to apply for those two clubs when they meet Pittsburgh," he said.

The Cardinals, who had never beaten Gentry before, clinging to hopes of a finish similar to that which gave them the pennant in 1964.

"That time we were six games back with 10 games to go and still won," Schoendienst reminded. "It just goes to show you anything can happen."

Nabs Second in Row For Hometown Fans

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pittsburgh. The Cards play Montreal in St. Louis with Frank Bertina, 0-0, opposing the Expos' Steve Renko, 10-9.

Carlton, reeling toward a 20th defeat season, Thursday checked the New York Mets 5-3 with his curve and fastball. He allowed 9 hits, including Al Weis' first home run of the season that scored two Met runs in the ninth.

"I really haven't thrown the slider the last two games," said Carlton, who four days earlier pegged a three-hit, 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'll stay away from the slider as long as my curve is the better of the two breaking pitches," he added.

Carlton, 8-18, was master of the Mets until Duffy Dyer singled, Weis walked and pinchhitter Ken Singleton drove home Dyer with a hit in the fifth.

By then, however, the Cardinals had driven Gary Gentry, 9-8 to cover with single runs in three of the first four innings for a 3-1 lead including Joe Hague's 12th home run.

They added a run off two walks and a single in the fifth and widened their lead to 5-1 an inning later on Lou Brock's single and Julian Javier's triple.

The victory gave the Cards only a measure of satisfaction, however, after dropping three straight to the Mets.

Nixon Joins Lombardi Mourners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nation of football fans, led by No. 1 fan President Nixon, mourned today the death of Vince Lombardi, the Washington Redskins coach considered by many the best the game had to offer.

The body of the 57-year-old Lombardi, who died Thursday, was to lie in a funeral home in the nation's capital for one day before being sent to New York, the city in which he was born.

Mass will be said in St. Patrick's Cathedral Monday by Terence Cardinal Cooke, archbishop of New York. Burial will be at Mount Olivet, a cemetery in Middletown Township, near Red Bank, N.J.

President Nixon said Lombardi was tops in his field "because he was able to help others discover the best that was in themselves. Like the power sweep which the game has trademarked, the power of Vince Lombardi's personality swept the world of sports and made a lasting impact on the life of all it touched."

"The lesson all Americans can learn from Coach Lombardi's life," Nixon said in a statement issued in Coronado, Calif., "is that a man can become a star when he becomes an apostle of teamwork."

In Tampa, Fla., where the Redskins are preparing for an exhibition game Saturday night, a mass will be said by the Rev. William Sewder at the motel where the team is lodged.

The Washington coach and executive vice president of the Redskins died Thursday morning in Georgetown University Hospital after a two-month fight with cancer.

He entered the hospital June 25 and underwent an operation two days later in which doctors removed a tumor and a two-foot length of colon. He was readmitted for another operation a month later.

It was not until Wednesday, however, that the family said publicly Lombardi suffered from "an extraordinarily virulent form of cancer."

Lombardi became a such a legendary, larger-than-life figure on the American scene during the pro football boom of the 1960s that it's often forgotten he didn't achieve success until late in life.

He was an obscure assistant coach at age 45 and well-known only in football circles when the Green Bay Packers signed him Jan. 28, 1959, to a five-year contract as head coach and general manager.

In the next decade, he reached such heights he was compared with such pro football coaching giants as George Halas and Paul Brown.

He took the Packers from a 1-10-1 record into contention his first season and from 1960 on, the Packers never finished below second—capturing six Western Division and five world championships, including an unprecedented three in a row from 1965-1967, and the first two AFL-NFL World Championships in 1966-1967.

His overall record with Green Bay was 141-39-4.

After a one-year retirement, he came to Washington last year and produced a 7-5-2 record during his first season, the first winning mark for the Redskins since 1955.

Fullbacks Roy Bell and Steve Dodd have recovered enough from injuries to resume practice.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Gary Lane, four-year pro was the Main Event. This match quarterback from Missouri, was released on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Terry Bradshaw, the passing whizz who has made the Pittsburgh Steelers winners in two of their three exhibition games, returns home tonight hopeful of making the Boston Patriots his third victim.

A capacity crowd of 30,000 is expected to watch the hometown boy who became pro football's No. 1 draft pick perform as a professional for the first time.

The Steelers — particularly Bradshaw—were impressive in a 21-6 victory over the New York Giants last week. Bradshaw completed 15 of 23 passes for 244 yards, including a 37-yard touchdown pass.

His quick release and scrambling ability had the sports world buzzing after the nationally televised contest.

Preston Pearson, with 190 yards in 40 carries during the preseason, gives the Steelers an effective runner to compliment Bradshaw's passing.

The defense—traditionally one of the toughest in the National Football League—is led by tackle "Mean" Joe Green.

The Patriots will be looking for their first preseason victory after two defeats. The Patriots and Steelers have never played each other before.

MU Tigers Drill on Astro turf

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Missouri football squad traveled to St. Louis Thursday and wound up its twice-a-day practices on the artificial turf of Busch Stadium.

The Tigers will play Baylor in St. Louis next Friday night, and Air Force there two weeks later.

Coach Dan Devine said the purpose of the trip was to test various types of shoes for traction and maneuverability.

Coach Vince Gibson was enthusiastic about the Kansas State offense in a scrimmage.

"Our first and second offensive units really looked good," he said. "It was probably the best they have looked this fall. Our backs were running and blocking well."

Sophomore linebacker Paul Hudson was the only bright spot on defense, Gibson said, adding, "He's a real hitter."

The Kansas Jayhawks had an abbreviated workout because of the scorching weather. Coach Pepper Rodgers canceled the goal line scrimmage that usually ends practice sessions.

"We punished the boys by not letting them scrimmage," Rodgers quipped. "Scrimmages are the only fun part of football."

Oklahoma State coaches said there was improvement in the Cowboys' play, but they lack consistency.

Six Iowa State players were limping Thursday after a scrimmage which Coach Johnny Majors described as erratic. All are expected to be ready game-type scrimmage Saturday.

Coach Bob Devaney used the telephone to recruit a candidate for the center job. Injuries took the first two centers out of action, leaving one man, Devaney called Dan Anderson of Fremont, Neb., who had tried out for center in spring practice but didn't get an invitation to fall drills. Anderson showed up Thursday afternoon.

Oklahoma's Sooners had to contend with 103-degree weather and Coach Chuck Fairbanks said the workout was ragged.

Fullbacks Roy Bell and Steve Dodd have recovered enough from injuries to resume practice.

Boston was buoyed this week when star fullback Jim Nance came to terms with the team. However, he is not expected to be ready until the regular season opener.

In his place will be Eddie Ray, a 242-pound fullback, who achieved collegiate stardom at Louisiana State.

Mike Taliaferro, Boston's No. 1 quarterback, injured a shoulder in a 26-20 defeat at the hands of the New Orleans Saints last week at Jackson, Miss. However, he is expected to be ready for some duty.

The Atlanta Falcons, surprise conquerors of the world champion Kansas City Chiefs a week ago, are at Buffalo on tonight's other exhibition game.

There's a line-up of 10 games Saturday, headed by a clash between the Chiefs and the Dallas Cowboys at Dallas on national television Saturday night.

In a day game, the New York Giants take on the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton, N.J. The others are night contests, including the annual exhibition doubleheader at Cleveland, which sends the St. Louis Cardinals against the San Diego Chargers, followed by NFL Champion Minnesota vs. Cleveland.

In the other night affairs it's the New York Jets at New Orleans; Baltimore vs. Detroit at Raleigh, N.C.; Cincinnati vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee; Chicago at Denver; Houston vs. Los Angeles in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena; and Washington vs. the unbeaten Miami Dolphins at Tampa, Fla.

The lone Sunday game sends the Oakland Raiders against the 49ers at San Francisco.

College Football Begins Second Century

NEW YORK (AP)—College football starts its second century and a new decade next week with the same old names expected to continue merly on their winning way.

Texas is conceded a good chance to defend the national championship it captured in 1956 by winning 10 regular season games, including the thrilling 15-14 Presidential finale against Arkansas, and then turning back Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl 21-17.

The Longhorns' top figures to come from a revenge-bent, keyed-up Ohio State eleven, furious at being lopped from the top by Michigan in the 1956 windup after winning everything in 1955 with a perfect season.

Southern California, the 1957 champion, and Notre Dame, No. 1 in 1956, also are given a shot, along with Arkansas, Mississippi, Stanford, Houston, Penn State and West Virginia.

The following teams are favored to battle it out in the various conference races: Southwest-Texas and Arkansas; Southeastern—Mississippi, LSU, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee; Big Eight—Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas State; Big Ten—Ohio State and Michigan; Pacific Eight—Southern Cal, Stanford and UCLA; Atlantic Coast—South Carolina, North Carolina and Duke; Southern The Citadel and Richmond; Mid-American—Toledo; Western Athletic—Arizona State and Utah; Missouri Valley—Memphis State and North Texas State; Ivy—Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton.

The last team to win consecutive national championships in the AP poll was Alabama in 1956-57, but Darrell Royal of Texas thinks his Longhorns can repeat despite the loss of 25 lettermen 34 are back.

"When things are going well, as they have been for us, everybody expects you to keep on winning," says Royal. "We could have just as good a team as last year."

Texas' returnees include two second-team All-Americans in fullback Steve Worster and defensive end Bill Bertelsen, a halfback Jim Bertelsen, a third-team selection.

Normally you have to search far and wide for a coach willing to predict a good season, but right on Royal's heels comes Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who can call on 31 lettermen from 1956, including two All-Americans, and 28 holdovers from the unbeaten Rose Bowl champs of two years ago.

"This team should be as good - a little better than last year," Hayes said the other day. "You've got to put us right near the top again, I think. But you never have a great team unless the seniors are playing their best ball every one of them."

The Buckeyes' All-Americans are corner back Jack Tatum, who could become the first defensive player to win the Heisman Trophy, and middle guard Jim Sullivan. Directing the attack is quarterback Rex Kern, the slickest ballhandler in college ranks and another prime Heisman contender.

At Southern Cal, where only a tie with Notre Dame marred an otherwise all-winning season, John McKay has his backfield back intact - quarterback Jimmy Jones, tailback Clarence Davis, fullback Charlie Evans and flanker Bobby Chandler, the most valuable player in the Rose Bowl victory over Michigan.

The famed "Wild Bunch," however, the defensive front five, was the heart of the 1956 club and tackle Tody Smith and end Charlie Weaver were the only returnees there. But linebacker Greg Slough, touted as the best in the country, and back Tyrone Hudson assure Ivy-Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton.

Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian welcomes his starting Cotton Bowl backfield - quarterback Joe Theismann, fullback Bill Barz and halfbacks Denny Allan and Andy Huff. The offensive line is Parseghian's main concern, even though graduation took All-American defensive tackle Mike McCoy, the pros' No. 2 draftee.

Arkansas returns the brilliant passing combination of quarterback Bill Montgomery and split end Chuck Dieus, plus a superb runner in Bill Burnett.

Mississippi features irrepressible quarterback Archie Manning, along with nine other offensive starters, Manning and Stanford quarterback Jim Plunkett are the pre-season favorites for the Heisman hardware.

Houston, which just may have been the best team in the land at the close of last season after finishing with nine straight victories - including a rout of Auburn in the Astro-Blue bonnet Bowl - has an outstanding passing combo in quarterback Gary Mullins if he's healthy and split end Elmo Wright and punishing runners in Ted Heiskell and Robert Newhouse. Wright is on the verge of three NCAA career pass-catching records.

Penn State lost 11 starters, including the two first team all-Americans from the magnificent defensive unit, but Coach Joe Paterno always comes up roses.

New Coach Bobby Bowden steps into an enviable position at West Virginia with a holdover backfield of quarterback Mike Sherrard, halfbacks Bob Gresham and Eddie Williams and fullback Jim Brantzen.

The only other returning first-team All-American is Tennessee guard Chip Kell. Other second-teamers back are Worster, Atesis, Wright and Plunkett while third team returnees are Bertelsen, Manning, Florida flanker Carlos Alvarez, halfback Joe Moore and tackle Laron Jackson of Missouri, defensive tackle Rock Perdoni of Georgia Tech and Cornell tailback Ed Marinaro.

Four to be Inducted in Baseball Hall of Fame

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Four Browns and his services were major league baseball figures - often sought by other teams. three of them players and the Hyland, a graduate of St. Louis fourth a physician—will be inducted into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame Oct. 16 in St. Louis.

The players are Yogi Berra and Joe Garagiola, both catchers who grew up in St. Louis, and J. H. (Dizzy) Dean, the pitching great of the St. Louis Cardinals of the 1930s.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland is the physician. For 30 years he was team surgeon for the St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Berra was a New York Yankee catcher until he took over as manager of the team in 1964. He has been a coach with the Mets this year.

Garagiola caught nine seasons in the majors before a shoulder injury in 1950 forced him to give up playing to take a radio job with the Cardinals. In recent years his fame has been as a television personality.

Kennett Man Involved in Two Accidents

Douglas Medress, 36, Kennett, was injured in a three-car collision Thursday at 9:30 p.m. on highway 164, two miles east of Hornersville.

He was driving a 1969 Chevrolet, west when he collided with a parked 1959 Ford, owned by Bobby Joe Wilson, 21, route one, Senath, and a parked 1963 Oldsmobile, owned by Terry Raymond Easley, 22, Kennett, the state patrol reported.

The parked cars were involved in an accident earlier.

Medress received cuts on his head and right leg, and taken to Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett.

Three hours before the accident he was in a boating accident in the same area when a companion drowned in a floodway ditch.

Medress and two other companions swam to safety.

Ultimate Test of Safeguard Ability Still Five Years off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile (ABM) system has reached a significant milestone with its first interception of a missile in outer space, but the ultimate test remains five years away.

A Spartan missile fired Friday from a mid-Pacific test site on Kwajalein Atoll intercepted a Minuteman I ballistic missile nose cone high in the sky.

Polley Named Distributor

R. L. Polley, of Rural Free Delivery No. 1, has been appointed distributor of VX-6. A product of National Dynamics Corporation of New York, VX-6 is a liquid chemical formula that attacks Sulphation, the number one cause of battery failure and short battery life.

Safeguard critics, both in Congress and the scientific community, question whether the ABM's guiding radars are sophisticated enough to distinguish the incoming nuclear warheads from decoys and other electronic devices designed to fool or jam the system.

Friday's mid-Pacific test demonstrated the missile site radar's ability to track an incoming missile and guide Spartan to its target. In this case, over the Pacific and above the earth's atmosphere.

It was the first time the Spartan was fired at an actual target and guided by its new and complex missile site radar (MSR), the Defense Department said Monday in a brief announcement of the test. In previous tests, Spartans were fired only at points in the sky.

"This was the first test to see if the system works," a Pentagon spokesman explained. "It wasn't the ultimate test, but it was a milestone."

The ultimate test of the disputed multi-billion-dollar ABM system will come in 1975 when the first Safeguard site is scheduled to become operational with all its component parts, including the important but still not completed perimeter acquisition radar (PAR), at Grand Forks, N.D.

Safeguard is designed to protect America's offensive Minuteman missile force by knocking out incoming enemy missiles with its long-range, nuclear-tipped Spartan and short-range Sprint missiles.

Ground tracking instruments "indicated that the Spartan's final stage, which in an operational situation would carry a nuclear warhead, flew close enough to the target nose cone to have caused its destruction," officials said.

Neither the Spartan nor the target nose cone carried explosive warheads.

The Nixon administration envisions Safeguard sites at 12 locations throughout the United States to protect the 1,000-missile Minuteman force and to provide a thin defense against a Chinese nuclear attack.

So far, a reluctant Congress has approved funds for only two sites—Grand Forks and Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana.

it was a single nose cone and not a multiple warhead such as would be expected in an actual attack.

The Safeguard system also will be aided by its perimeter acquisition radar, which is being designed to pick up enemy missiles when they first appear over the horizon minutes after launch. However, because of its size and complexity, it will be impossible to fully test the PAR and the completed Safeguard system until the first site is installed at Grand Forks.

In describing Friday's test, Pentagon officials said the Spartan intercepted a Minuteman nose cone launched 4,200 miles away from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Cape to Vote On Bond Issue On Sept. 22

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Cape Girardeau voters on Sept. 22 will be asked to ballot on a proposal that the city issue $2,500,000 in municipal industrial revenue bonds to construct a facility here to house a new industry, Hardware Wholesalers Inc., of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The special election date was set by the city council in a called meeting this forenoon. Several street items were also handled and the form of agreement with Cape Central Airways Inc., for auto rental service at Municipal Airport was approved.

No tax levy would be involved in the industrial bond proposal, the bonds being repaid from returns on a lease with the company. A four-sevenths majority is needed to pass the issue.

Plans are to erect the building on a 20-acre site to be acquired from the Greater Cape Girardeau Industrial Development Corp. on Nash Road.

The Indiana wholesale firm handles all types of hardware including sporting goods. It serves about 850 independent dealers in a five-state area.

If the proposal gains voter approval, part of the building would be devoted to the manufacturing of doors, windows and other items. The remainder would be used as a warehouse.

The initial proposal to construct the new facility here was made in late February by HWI representatives to the city council and Chamber of Commerce officials. Negotiations between these groups were underway prior to that date.

At that time, HWI officials said a 200,000-square-foot building will be constructed with plans for its expansion to 400,000 square feet in the foreseeable future. About 40,000 square feet of the original building would be given over to the manufacturing process.

Initially the plant would employ from 100 to 150 persons, all but two or three key personnel to be hired locally. When the contemplated expansion of the plant takes place, the company said it expects to employ around 300 persons.

The City Council at its Aug. 5 meeting by unanimous vote passed the necessary resolution authorizing Mayor Howard C. Verna L. Landis, to file an application with the Missouri growth.

Specifically, the grant will be used in seven areas: (1) To study the feasibility of an Economic Development Administration designation for St. Louis poverty areas, which received. It was on this basis the would permit additional federal council today gave three readings to the ordinance development programs in those approving the project and calling areas. The study is being made in conjunction with several other agencies.

It has been pointed out during negotiations that under Missouri legislation enacted by the Missouri Legislature in 1961, Missouri providing for the issuance of industrial revenue bonds, these structure of Missouri with the bonds cannot be paid with taxes state's immediate neighbors and derived from the usual source of other industrialized states, levies against property. Thus, the law protects the property owner of a direct reduction mill for against increased obligations steel manufacturing in Missouri. because of such an industrial project.

In discussion today, councilmen agreed established the bonds will be retired solely from rental funds. There is to be no cost and no liability to the city whatsoever even though the firm should go out of business. The city would still retain title to the building in such an occurrence, councilmen said.

Milk Price Raised Five Cents at Schools

HOWARDVILLE — Dr. George S. Reuter, Jr., superintendent of New Madrid county R-I enlarged school district, announces that Congress has not yet appropriated money for the special milk program.

Those students desiring extra milk will now pay seven cents for a halfpint of whole milk, instead of two cents which the district has charged in the past years.

Reuter announced that the remedial reading program for the district will include the following personnel: Marston - Brenda Kay Hon, Eloise Vaughn, Willard Minton; Parma - Ethel Longdon; Matthew - Shirley Whiffen; New Madrid - Alice Johnson, Virgie Shannon, Earl Raspberry; and Portageville - JoAnne Hardin.

The District Reading Director, Hazel LeSieur, reported that there will be a workshop on September 3 at Marston for these people. "S.R.A." representatives will present the program.

Reuter states that eight new Ford buses began operation Monday. The district purchased the bus chassis from Bill Hayes Ford Sales, Inc., of Portageville, and the bus bodies were sold by The Watts' Company.

Third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez, who has been swinging for home runs this season under Ted Williams in Washington, hit only seven in 159 games with the California Angels in 1969. He's only 22.

CONSTRUCTION IS EXPECTED to begin this fall on a Food Giant Super Market on the old Malone Home property on West Malone. The store will be owned by Ken Storey and Charley Collum. They expect to employ 35. They have Food Giant stores at Cape Girardeau, Murray, Ky., and Osceola, Ark.

If You Were the Judge Agreement Not to Practice in Area Valid

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Dr. Skinner had a great specialty. As a dermatologist, his patients never died nor got better. He did, however, have one problem. When he signed up to work for a medical clinic, his contract prohibited him from practicing medicine within a radius of 35 miles of the clinic, for three years after the contract's termination. But with the termination of the contract, he dearly wanted to stay in the area because of the following he developed. So he doggedly did.

The result? The members of the clinic brought a court action to make him stop practicing medicine within the 35-mile radius. "He's treating our contract like a mirage," they complained in court, "as though it doesn't exist."

"It may exist," was Dr. Skinner's answer, "but it's not enforceable. An agreement that prohibits a man from practicing his profession isn't legal. What's more, a good skin doctor is needed in this community and to make me leave would be contrary to the best interests of its residents."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Dr. Skinner pack up and get out? This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that contracts in general restraint of trade are ordinarily held to be void. However, where the limitation as to time and territory contained in a restrictive covenant of employment are not unreasonable, as in this case, they are valid and enforceable. As to his being useful to the community, concluded the judge, he can be just as useful to some other community.

$40,000 Grant for Industrial Studies

COLUMBIA — The Office of Industrial Development Studies of the University of Missouri has received a $40,000 grant from the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development to go ahead with several research projects aimed at aiding Missouri's industrial application with the Missouri growth.

Big City Tourism Decline Hasn't Reached St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Big city tourism may be declining but St. Louis hasn't noticed it. James E. Jones, director of the Convention and Tourist Board, said Friday more than 400 conventions in the city will attract 1.5 million persons this year.

The total, he said, will be an increase of 250,000 over 1969, bringing in $120 million to the city compared to about $100 million last year.

St. Louis Zoo Director William Hoff said 1,340,000 persons visiting the Forest Park attraction during June and July is 240,000 more than during the same months in 1969.

Other increased tourist totals were reported at the Gateway Arch, the old courthouse, Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and the Missouri Botanical Garden.

The world shooting championships of the International Shooting Union will be held at Phoenix Ariz., Oct. 17-26.

Jones-Hickman

Wanda Virginia Jones of Morehouse was married to Freeman Roy Hickman of Canolou August 18 in the home of the Rev. Jimmie Edmondson.

The bridal couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lutes and Mr. and Mrs. Carol Lutes of Sikeston.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickman now reside in Morehouse.

Hearnes-Sommerer

The Executive Mansion of the State of Missouri provided the setting Saturday evening for the marriage of Miss Lynne Cooper Hearnes, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes, to Mr. Carl James Sommerer II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Sommerer of Jefferson City. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 6 p.m. in the Gold Room on the first floor of the Mansion. The private wedding was witnessed by family members and was followed by a reception.

The bride descended the grand staircase at the arm of her father.

The bride's Victorian bouquet featured English bone china roses of ivory with gypsophila and greenery.

Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes, mother of the bride, sang "If With All Your Hearts Ye Truly Seek Me," from "Elijah," by Mendelssohn, and "Eternal Life," by Olive Dungan.

Dr. Bill W. Stacy, Cape Girardeau, uncle of the bride, read Shakespeare's Sonnet 116. The Reverend G. Nelson Duke, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jefferson City, who officiated at the ceremonies, read selected verses from Corinthians I. The bride and groom repeated wedding vows they had written and included in the traditional ceremony.

Mrs. William H. Jordan, Greensboro, North Carolina, an aunt of the bride, played Trumpet Voluntary in D Major, by Henry Purcell, at the organ as the wedding party proceeded to the altar. For the recessional she played Trumpet Tune in D Major, also by Purcell.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Julia Britten Hearnes, sister of the bride, and Miss Catherine Brown of Charleston, cousin of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Dulle of Jefferson City, sister of the groom; Miss Susan Brown and Miss Lisa Warren of Charleston, cousins of the bride; Mrs. Glen Stewart of East Prairie, cousin of the bride; Mrs. John Phillips of Columbia; Miss Rosalie Richards of Jefferson City, and Miss Lan Harding of Denver, Colorado, and Miss Jacqueline Fox of Aspen, Colorado, who were classmates of the bride when she attended William Woods College in Fulton.

Candlelighters were Miss Betty Ann Brown and Miss Jamee Warren of Charleston, cousins of the bride, and Miss Joan Sommerer and Miss Jane Sommerer of Jefferson City, sisters of the groom.

Miss Sara Jane Stacy of Cape Girardeau, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Paul Dulle of Jefferson City, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Best man was the brother of the groom, Mark Richard Sommerer of Jefferson City. Groomsmen were Michael Kirk Farmer, Craig Martin Watts, Charles Allen Ratz, Charles Stuart Exon, David Lynn Perdue, James Leont Dulle, Mark Crison Sappington and Randolph Hollis Ketchum, all of Jefferson City, and Jeffrey Laurence Lucas of St. Joseph and James Blake Halstead of Kansas City.

Other relatives attending included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Crismon of Jefferson City, maternal grandparents of the groom, Mrs. A. B. Cooper of Charleston, maternal grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. E. B. Hearnes of Charleston, paternal grandmother of the bride.

Servers for the reception were Mrs. David Bolick of Little Rock, Arkansas, cousin of the bride, Miss Leslie Ashby and Miss Frances Sue Moran of Charleston, Miss Linda Rains of Granite City, Illinois, and Miss Lauren Estes of Jefferson City.

Assisting with the guest book were Miss Linda Hedenkamp of St. Louis and Mrs. Charles William Digges V of Columbia. Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Harry Warren, Jr. and Mrs. Audley Brown of Charleston.

Mrs. James Carl Sommerer II

Mrs. Jerome Barrow Wilkinson

and Mrs. Bill Stacy of Cape Girardeau, aunts of the bride. After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will reside in Columbia. Both are 1967 graduates of Jefferson City Senior High School and now are enrolled at the University of Missouri. The bride is majoring in English and the groom is a pre-law student.

Miss Hearnes became the second daughter of a Governor to be married in the Executive Mansion, which was constructed in 1871 and is completing a century of service as the state's official residence for first families. Miss Henrietta Park, daughter of the late Governor Guy B. Park and Mrs. Park, was married there on November 16, 1933, to Mr. J. Marvin Krause. The Cole County Recorder who sold the marriage license for that wedding, Henry LePage, remains in the same office and last week sold a license to Mr. Sommerer and Miss Hearnes. Mr. Jim Tom Blair, son of the late Governor and Mrs. James T. Blair, Jr., also was married in the Executive Mansion. His wedding to Mrs. Myrna Rothchild took place February 6, 1959.

Linda Wethington

Wethington-Curtis

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wethington of 841 Agnes Street announce the engagement of his sister, Linda Wethington to Samuel Curtis.

Miss Wethington is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Green Wethington of Gray Ridge, and a 1967 graduate of Richland high school. She is a senior at Southeast Missouri State in Cape Girardeau, majoring in elementary education.

Curtis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Curtis of Bloomfield. He is a 1966 graduate of Bloomfield high and a senior at Rolla, majoring in electrical engineering.

Plans are being made for a January wedding.

Mrs. Leon Wallace

Hoxworth-Wallace

RISCO — The wedding of Miss Terrie Hoxworth, daughter of Mrs. Wanda Sweeney of Memphis, Tenn., to Leon Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wallace of Risco, was solemnized in a seven o'clock double ring service August 20 in the Tallapoosa Baptist Church.

The Rev. Jim Byington performed the ceremony before a brass archway accented with greenery. The archway was flanked by a pair of graduated candelabra which held lighted white tapers. White satin bows were used as pew markers and baskets of white glamelias with greenery completed the setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, W. M. Shaw. She carried a cascade bouquet of glamelias and lily of the valley.

Miss Karen Shaw of Risco was bridesmaid. Larry Calvert of Risco was the best man. Miss Carolyn Duncan presented pre-nuptial piano selections. Miss Shirley Sawyer and Miss Billie Carol Hoxworth were candle lighters. Tony Hoxworth and Marty DeProw served as ushers.

A reception was held in the church dining room.

Miss Carolyn Bartlett assisted Miss Shirley Sawyer and Miss Billie Hoxworth in serving for the reception.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Risco high school and the groom was a 1969 graduate of Risco. He is serving with the U.S. Marines in Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Lewis F. Hux

Davies-Wilkinson

Maegwen Eluned Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davies of Rhymmer, Monmouthshire, Great Britain, was wed to Jerome Barrow Wilkinson August 15. The Rev. Durward Penry performed the ceremony in First Christian Church.

The groom is the son of Carl C. Wilkinson of 112 W. Wakefield and the late Mrs. Wilkinson. He is a graduate of Sikeston high school, 1960, and a student at the University of Missouri-Rolla.

The couple live in Rolla.

Interview

By KURT LASSEN

In a song the story goes that they pushed a note through a horn and the Blues were born. Don Covay's version of the story is quite different and Don's credentials to tell the story are very impressive. He takes the Blues off in a separate corner all by itself. Jazz, rock, soul and country are all another bag, mostly variations on the theme, "You can't learn the Blues," he told us. "The Blues is something you sing to keep from crying, it's something you feel because of your condition of life. Blues begins as an experience and extends itself into music as an experience."

When Don was just thirteen he wrote a song and tucked it away to sing for himself when the mood struck him. It wasn't till some years later when he heard Aretha Franklin sing that he decided to share it with the rest of the world. The song was "Chain of Fools," which sold over 4 million copies, became one of the all-time Blues hits and won a Grammy Award.

"When I was a real little kid we lived in the South. My whole family picked cotton. We'd start early in the morning and it would be cold. We'd keep praying for the sun to get up high and warm us. Then it would get so hot we'd wish it was the cool morning again and the hot sun would go away," Don told us.

"We'd sing about the cold, the heat and the work. Our singing was Blues first hand. It was a way of talking to each other, the songs told actual stories about people and situations, just the way they used to do back in the days of slavery."

"Then we moved up to Washington and life was still very hard for my mother and eight brothers and one sister. I didn't get into the first grade until I was seven."

By that time Don had already picked up the guitar and was singing gospel and blues. "Mother didn't let us sing Blues at home because it was real talking and she didn't like what the songs said. There's been a real chain of the Blues, they've been passed from one person to

The Prayer from The Upper Room

We can be full of joy here and now even in our trials and troubles. Taken in the right spirit these very things will give us patient endurance; this in turn will develop a mature character. (Romans 5:3-5, Phillips)

PRAYER: Our Father, forgive us when we do not meet every day of our lives with joy. Help us to use our trials, as well as the pleasant moments, to grow in Thy love. We ask in the name of our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

Today In History

Today is Friday, Sept. 4, the 247th day of 1970. There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1781, Los Angeles was founded by Spanish settlers.

On this date: In 1870, in Paris, the Third French Republic was proclaimed.

In 1885, the forerunner of today's cafeteria — the self service restaurant — opened its doors at 7 New St., in New York City and was known as the Exchange Buffet.

In 1931, Maj. James Doolittle established an aviation record when he flew from Burbank, Calif., to Newark, N.J., in 11 hours, 16 minutes.

In 1940, Adolf Hitler, speaking in Berlin, promised the German people he would invade Great Britain, no matter what.

In 1944, Allied soldiers liberated Antwerp, Belgium from the German invaders.

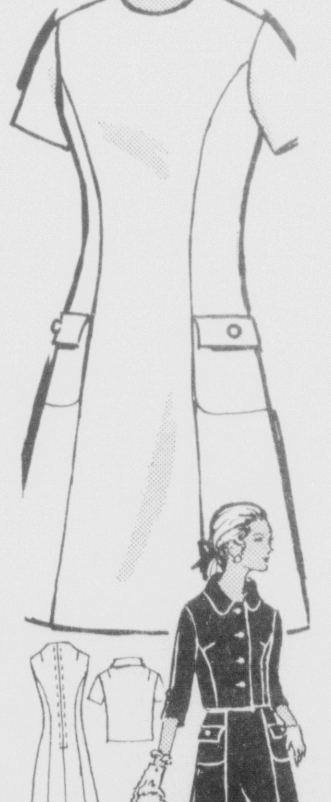

In 1967, a crowd of 400 jeering white men and women stood by at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., as troops barred nine Negro students from entering the building.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union agreed to negotiations aimed at clearing the way for Finland to join the European Free Trade Association.

Five years ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson extended U.S. recognition to President Garcia Godoy's provisional Dominican Republic government and pledged to give it $20 million in economic aid.

One year ago — Israel called off a three-day search for Dr. James Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California, who disappeared in the Judean Desert.

Death Row Not What It Used to Be in State Pen

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — inmates, "It's always there, waiting to remind you. You wake up in the morning and think about it. You brush your teeth and think about it. You watch a western or soap opera on television and for a while, you forget it. Then it comes back."

The old punishment unit was inhuman, recalls one of the nine men facing the death penalty. A tenth man was transferred to the state hospital at Fulton because of a deteriorating mental condition. "We were in with all the bad ones," the inmate continued. "One man caused trouble and they would come and kick us all. Things are much more liberal, easier, less tension, no more problems."

The changes are due to Warden Harold Swenson. He noted the inmates previously were housed in maximum security, "a punitive measure for those being punished for offenses inside the prison."

Swenson said "we felt it was unfair to those condemned men to keep them there."

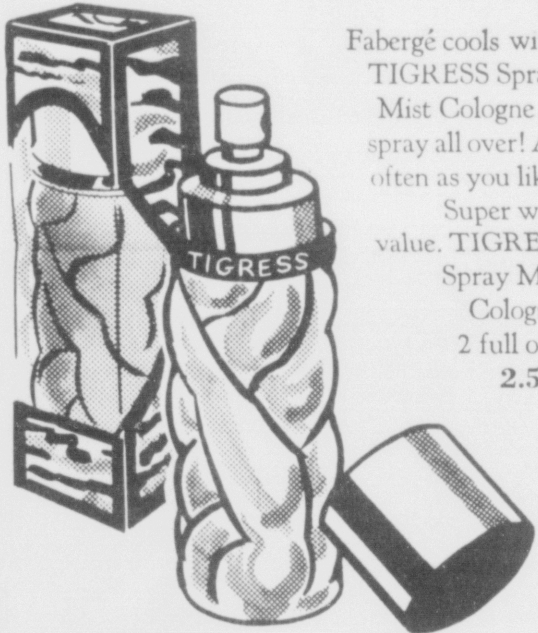

These nine men now have been moved into a 12-cell area. Individual television sets have been installed in the cells, wall lamps, plastic chairs, tables, colorful towels and other amenities have been introduced. A 72-by-72 exercise yard was fenced and a football provided for the men. They also have the use of a pool table, an exercise unit, and can have daily showers and haircuts.

A reporter for the Kansas City Star was one of the first outsiders allowed to visit death row. He found that despite the changes in their mode of living in the penitentiary, "you think about death constantly."

"No matter how hard you try to forget," said one of the

She was born in Newark, Ark., Oct. 20, 1904, daughter of Dr. H. G. and Susie Logan.

Surviving is her husband, Clyde M. Kennedy, Sikeston; five sons, Stanley E. Kennedy and Larry C. Kennedy, both of Sikeston; Claude Kennedy, Sylmar, Calif.; Bryant L. Kennedy, Washington, D. C.; and Dennis Kennedy, Rialto, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Virginia McReynolds, Bloomington, Calif.; two half-brothers, Onus and Buford Bruce, both of Bell City; 22 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Welsh Funeral Chapel, with Cline Ables, pastor of Temple Baptist church, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

ALBERT LEGRAND

ORAN — Albert J. LeGrand, 78, St. Louis, died Wednesday afternoon in a St. Louis hospital. The body is at the Smith Funeral Home.

HERBERT LOYD

Herbert L. Loyd of Sikeston, a former resident of Caruthersville, died Wednesday morning in a Memphis, Tenn. hospital.

Loyd was a retired teacher and recently taught at schools in Holland. He graduated from State College in Cape Girardeau with a bachelor of science degree from the University of Tenn. in Knoxville.

Survivors include his wife, the former Miss Lydia Latham; a son Joseph Herbert Loyd, Tripoli, Libya; a brother, Byron Loyd, Kinder; and five sisters, Mrs. Fonso Howell, Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, Mrs. Floyd L. Davis, Mrs. Mildred Jones and Mrs. Donald Strauser, all of Cape Girardeau.

The body is at Dean's Funeral Home in Caruthersville. Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday morning at the United Methodist Church in Caruthersville, where he was a member.

Burial will be in the Bollinger County Memorial Park near Lutesville, where Masonic graveside rites will be conducted.

SNAKE-BIT MAN HAS TO FIGHT RATTLESNAKE DRIVE FOR HELP

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Bill Palmer was bitten by a rattlesnake, then had to fight off the snake while he drove to town for medical help.

Palmer said the snake crawled into his car Sunday night when he stopped after his motor overheated on a trip from Las Cruces to Alamogordo.

Palmer, recuperating in an Alamogordo hospital, said Wednesday the snake bit him on the index finger when he reached under a car seat. He said he tried to get the snake out of the car but couldn't, so he drove to Alamogordo.

"I left the dome light on to see what he was up to and when he stuck his head out I just yelled at him and stomped my foot."

BLOOMFIELD — Funeral services were held Thursday for Mrs. Everett J. Prater, 59, who died Tuesday in a Dexter hospital.

Services were at Gravel Hill Pentecostal Church, where she was a member. The Rev. J. W. Fowler, pastor of the United Pentecostal Church in Kennett, officiated.

The former Mary Smith was born Dec. 16, 1910 at Kewanee. She was first married to Wm. Stlemmer, who died Sept. 12, 1962. She married Prater, Nov. 11, 1969, and he survives.

Also surviving is a brother, Lloyd Smith, of Kennett. A sister and two brothers preceded her in death.

Burial was in the church cemetery, and Morgan Funeral Home in Advance was in charge.

Woman Hurt In Collision

CHARLESTON — Mrs. W. E. Frazier is reported in serious condition in the Sikeston hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a two-car collision at the intersection of North Main and Lafayette Streets in Charleston Sunday at 5:55 p.m.

The police said Mrs. Willis Downs, 44, of Charleston was driving a 1970 Dodge with her mother, Mrs. Frazier, as a passenger. They were northbound on North Main.

Sherman Michael Phillips, 16 of route two, also northbound on Main in a 1969 Chevrolet, struck the rear of the Downs car, causing it to jump the curb and hit a utility pole in front of the Grinstead Brewer residence.

According to police, the Phillips youth said Mrs. Downs had stopped on the right side of the street. Mrs. Downs said she saw in her rear view mirror that the Phillips car was going to strike her vehicle, and she pulled over to the side of the street hoping he would go around her.

Both Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Frazier were taken to the emergency room at the Sikeston hospital, where Mrs. Downs was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Mrs. Frazier underwent surgery Monday at 3:30 p.m. and was reported in serious condition. She had improved by Tuesday, a family spokesman said.

Phillips was arrested for careless and reckless driving, involved in an accident.

C of C Will Meet Monday

MALDEN — A general meeting of the Malden Chamber of Commerce and election of officers for the 1970-71 fiscal year will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the City Hall.

Bill Johnson, Chamber manager, said the purpose of the meeting is two-fold. The election of new officers and a brief outline by officials of some of Malden's leading industries of their projected programs for the next 5 to 10 years.

The meeting is open to members, prospective members and all interested persons.

TV Series Offer Little To Escapist

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The approaching television season may go into the books as the year when the medium tried hard to mix social enlightenment with entertainment.

Producers of the series speak forcefully of "relevance" and brag about the use of meaningful themes.

Narcotics and drug abuse by the young are such popular ingredients in scripts that they threaten to become dramatic clichés. Pushers are the new villains and the terrible consequences of addiction are underlined.

"Marcus Welby, M.D." will open its season with a story about venereal disease—"pulling no punches," says star Robert Young. It comes at a time when health authorities are alarmed about soaring VD rates.

Racial tensions and the chasm between ethnic and age groups as well as ecological destruction are under the microscope.

Even situation comedies will use such themes. "Headmaster," in a school setting, has stories about drugs, rejection by parents and one episode about a disturbed boy thinking of suicide. This may help parents, but it also may be difficult to handle along with a laugh track.

Many of this season's shows may turn out to be painful to watch. Some nights the seeker of escape viewing may find it hard to get away from reality. But no one can criticize television for shirking its responsibilities.

NBC kicked off the second season of its "First Tuesday" with a two-hour September edition that ranged leisurely from a revealing thumbnail description of Liberia to a report on a Hollywood starlet, Tina Louise, who is now a teacher of yoga.

Generally the program was low key, and it still has a tendency to linger overlong on some features which don't hold up too well. That was particularly true of a report on a Missouri farm family which lives next to a Minuteman missile site.

There was some exclusive film showing life in the William Kienast home where their infant quintuplets are growing up. Shown was bathing time in the kitchen sink, feeding time with help from neighbors, and there were some awesome statistics including 43 gallons of milk a month, 400 diapers a week.

Probably the portion on Liberia was most important since it told a lot in a little time about a country ruled by descendants of American slaves. Its government is similar to that of the United States but its elected president has no political opposition.

Two Fined on Driving While Intoxicated Charges

EAST PRAIRIE — Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan assessed $55 fines each of Erian Carden, Rochelle, Ill., and Jimmy Wilson, East Prairie on charges of driving while drinking.

A $50 fine was levied Earnest Easley and $20 fines were assessed Edgar Smothers and Gary O'Dell for public intoxication. Judge Bryan told Smothers he would be sentenced to thirty days in jail if arrested again within thirty days for public intoxication. Smothers was arrested again Wednesday and is now serving thirty days in the Mississippi County jail in Charleston.

Clifford Northern, Sikeston, paid a $25 fine for careless and reckless driving.

A charge of no operators license brought a $20 fine to Charles Grissom and Teddy Ditto paid a $10 fine for failure to have a city sticker.

Mary Bryan, charged with running a stop sign, was assessed a $20 fine.

Round Up Barges On Cape Shore

CAPE GIRARDEAU — More than 40 river barges ran loose in the Mississippi River from Cape Rock south yesterday bringing about a massive roundup in which numerous riverboats participated.

It could not be determined immediately if there was any damage to vessels or if anyone had been injured in the frantic effort to herd the barges to shore.

The Corps of Engineers reported the barges broke loose about 11 a.m. when the towboat, Floyd H. Blaske, owned by the American Commercial Barge Lines, evidently stalled as it was bound upstream at Cape Rock Bend.

When the engine stalled, it is believed the barges struck rocks which protrude into the river at this point, with all or most of the barges breaking loose.

As they did so, they headed toward the Motor Vessel Formost, moving upstream. In an effort to evade the Blaske's barges, the Formost lost her tow of 10 barges and they drifted loose. However, the boat's captain, by quick action, was able to round these barges up before they had drifted far.

After rescuing its own barges, the Formost tied them off along the shore and joined in the roundup of the Blaske's barges. Meanwhile, other tows upstream stood by while boats from the Deimund Sand Co. and two from Missouri Barge Lines downstream joined the Blaske in an effort to round up her tow.

The upstream vessels did not have time to tie up their barges to shore and join in the roundup.

The riverboat restaurant, the Rebel Queen, was in danger for a time, as barges headed downstream toward it. However, the rescue boats from Missouri Dry Docks came up stream in time to prevent the collision, witnesses said.

Dick Randol, who has worked on riverboats, was an eyewitness to the barge accident. He said he was near the river at Cape Rock when he saw the Blaske push toward Cape Rock. A strong current, he said, caught the boat — apparently as the engine stalled — and caused it to break loose, the barges heading toward the Illinois shoreline.

The barges, loaded with chemicals and coal, were scattered in small groups. They were set adrift at a fairly fast speed, he said. He said two barges drifted down the river to the Main Street business district, but were picked up before they reached the traffic bridge.

By 12:30, some barges were still loose in the channel, others had been stopped and secured in places from Devil's Island chute opposite Cape Rock to the drydock facilities south of the bridge.

Apparently the first of the free barges to be secured was caught in the main channel near the foot of Broadway. These were secured near the Missouri Drydock Co. Others were pushed into shallow water on the Illinois side of the river.
